They made it. Now they lead.

The first batch of Full Phils scholars is now ready to transform their achievement into impact.

Creativity and Achievement in Full Bloom!

Last February, our Full Phils family gathered for a joyful Valentine's celebration, crafting handmade rose flower pots together under the guidance of instructor, Lei Quintos.

The highlight of the day was honoring Jonalyn, Rodelyn, and Rosalie—three inspiring scholars who recently graduated with BS degrees in Hotel and Restaurant Management from Philippine Women's University. Their success shines as proof of perseverance and community support. This gathering was not only about creativity but also about celebrating education and the achievements that unite us.

“ I know from the moment you wake up to the moment you sleep, you're working... and yet you still found time to study. We are all so proud of your hard work and determination to earn this college degree! And we can't wait to see all the amazing things you will be doing after graduation.

— Emilio Baja, Full Phils Founder

Investing 101: Building Tomorrow's Security Today

The Growing My Money workshop, facilitated by Ms. Supriya Chavan from Enrich HK, was lively and practical, with scholars actively engaging in discussions about investment basics, budgeting, and evaluating small businesses. She balanced theory with real-life examples, while peer sharing added relevance through honest stories of challenges and lessons learned. Overall, the session blended accessible financial concepts with actionable advice, leaving participants energized and connected.

We proudly celebrated Alma, Gelanie, and Febie for completing their BS degrees in Hotel and Restaurant Management from Philippine Women's University, marking an inspiring milestone in their journeys. We also warmly welcomed our newest scholar, May, whose ambition to build her own business after earning her bachelor's degree reflects both determination and a bright future ahead.

Meet our Graduates

BS Hotel and Restaurant Management from Philippine Women's University

Back home, Rodelyn once helped fund her siblings' education through a small business—yet she was the only one without a degree. That became her motivation to push forward, even while working as a domestic helper in Hong Kong. The toughest moment came during her final term, when deadlines piled up while her employer needed her full support due to her surgery. Still, she refused to give up, reminding herself of the sacrifices already made and the future she envisioned. Today, with her hard-earned diploma, she stands ready to pursue better opportunities, build a stable career, and make her family proud.

For 13 years, Rosalie worked abroad, carrying the weight of distance and sacrifice while chasing a dream: a college diploma. Despite the struggles of balancing work and studies in Hong Kong, she pressed on, determined to secure a brighter future. Today, she proudly holds her Hotel and Restaurant Management degree from Philippine Women's University—proof that perseverance pays off. Now, she's ready to build a stable career in the Philippines, closer to her family, and prepare for even greater opportunities ahead. Her journey is a powerful reminder that education can transform hardship into hope.

Let's support more OFW scholars so that they too can reach their dream of a bachelor's degree and a brighter future like Rodelyn and Rosalie!
